Customer List

A customer list can help you keep track of the people or companies you do business with. It can also provide you with one location for your customer's information, such as address, email, phone and any other important information you need for your business.

Customer Name	Address	Email	Phone